

ARE STILL AT WORK ON A WAGE SCALE

COAL MEN ENDEAVOR TO REACH AN AGREEMENT.

Work Progresses Slowly—Convention Meets But Adjourns, and the Joint Committee Goes Ahead With Its Work—Satisfactory Solution Confidently Predicted.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The joint conference of the miners and operators did little more than meet Tuesday. At the morning session the opposing sides announced their scale committees and at the afternoon session it was announced that these committees were not ready to report. As the consideration of this report is all that there is now before the convention, it was necessary to take an adjournment until this morning at 9 o'clock.

After the adjournment of the joint conference Monday afternoon the joint scale committee went into session. It was said there is a wide difference of opinion among the members and that it may take some time to reach an agreement.

It was said there was a possibility that the Illinois men might support the Pennsylvania men in their effort to wipe out the differential between the Pittsburgh district and the Ohio fields. This is one of the principal bones of contention in the joint scale committee and if it can be represented that the Pennsylvania men have a majority of votes among the miners it may go a long way toward settling the question of scale. There is an entirely new phase to this question.

When the Illinois men said that they would support the Ohio men in their contention to maintain the differential it was with the understanding that there were widely divergent conditions. Now the Pennsylvania men come with a proposition to make the conditions the same in the two states wherever the thickness of vein or working conditions may be the same, and the Illinois men are inclined to look with favor on the proposition. The Pennsylvania men, it is understood, do not make any claim for the wiping out of the differential in the Hocking valley field, where the coal vein is extra thick and where it would be necessary to maintain a stiff differential in order to protect the other fields in the state.

The best information that can be gathered from the committees of the opposing sides is that while there has been no agreement there has been no disagreement, and this is argued as a good sign. It is said that while the two committees are conferring there is a chance that an agreement may be reached. It is certain that up to this time neither side has made a threat, and that there is a disposition to arrive at an agreement if such a thing be possible.

FINES MADE A STRIKE ISSUE.

Are Brought to the Front in the New England Cotton Troubles.

Boston, Jan. 19.—Grim determination on the part of both sides, coupled with a defined issue between employer and employee, as well as practically an absence of any sign of demonstration, were the features of the second day in the great strike in the cotton industry.

At New Bedford the strikers strengthened their cause by making the question of fines a definite issue with the mill owners. It is possible that an agreement on this question may lead to some satisfactory ending of the whole matter in that city, although at present such an outcome seems distant.

The matter of financial support to the strikers was generally discussed, not only in New Bedford, but in Biddeford, Saco and Lewiston, Me. While the union strikers seem to have no anxiety regarding the next three months, the nonunion men who are out fear they may not receive sufficient support.

In Fall River the superintendent of the King Philip mill, where there is a strike, went so far as agreeing to remedy union grievances, but other than this there appears no breach in the line of the manufacturers during the day.

The hundred thousand operatives in all six of the New England states are watching the contest very closely.

No Disorder in Havana.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Such information as the state department has received as to the situation in Havana is confirmatory of the unofficial dispatches and shows that quiet reigns in the city and that the impression of the officials here that the riotous spirit had either exhausted itself for the time being or had been completely suppressed by the strong hand of authority is justified.

Two Killed in a Train Wreck.

Colfax, Cal., Jan. 19.—The west-bound passenger train on the Central Pacific railroad jumped the track Tuesday night about half a mile east of Colfax. Engineer Hackett and Fireman Lightner were killed. Fireman C. F. Brown was severely scalded. Engineer C. C. Brown was cut and crushed about the head.

Ohio Bribery Investigation.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 19.—The legislative committee appointed to investigate the charge that agents of Senator Hanna ordered money and offices for votes during the senatorial fight held its first session Monday night. The fusion men charge that three separate attempts to bribe were made by Mr. Hanna's friends or agents.

WANT REFORM IN IOWA.

Attack the Trustee System—Hard Fight Is Promised.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 19.—Radical reforms demanded in the report of the special committee to investigate the state institutions aroused the general assembly Tuesday. In the senate the report was side-tracked, and the senate had adjourned without a mention of the voluminous expose of the evils of the trustee system of the state institutions. Suddenly Lieut.-Gov. Millman recalled the senators and the motion to adjourn was expunged long enough to file the report of the committee and provide for its publication in the journal. In the house it was introduced in the afternoon and was ordered published and filed with the secretary of state.

According to present indications the board of control issue will be the fight of the session. Prof. Stanton of the Agricultural college will fight the project as one detrimental to the growth of the school, and a lobby from the state university will be here to labor with the senators and the representatives against a board of control of any kind. Dr. F. M. Powell, superintendent of the institute for the feeble minded at Glenwood, is here to work against a board of control, and the substitution of a board of charities with advisory powers similar to the one in Illinois.

In the house Representative Ladd introduced a measure which provides for the amendment of the state constitution in favor of equal suffrage by striking the word "male" from the qualifications of voters. Representatives Sauer proposes to close the polls in all elections an hour later on election days, at 7 o'clock instead of at 6, in order to give factory employees a chance to vote. Decoration day, 1899, is the date fixed for the public dedication of the Iowa soldiers and sailors' monument.

GRIEVANCES OF RAILROAD MEN.

Brotherhoods Confer with the Officials at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 19.—Delegations of the brotherhoods of railroad men to the number of forty from all branches of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad and another delegation from all divisions of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad are in Cincinnati. The committee of the former road called first at the office of Superintendent Galloway of that road. The visit was followed by a secret session at the hall. The railroad division superintendents came to Cincinnati Monday, and with Galloway held a secret conference. Their decision did not suit the railroad employees and the division superintendents decided to meet again. The men involved are engineers, conductors, firemen and freight handlers. They number at least 1,000.

The engineers and firemen want pay for working overtime. They also demand that men be promoted or given favorable positions according to term of service and efficiency. The freight handlers object to being paid by tonnage. At present they are paid by the day, about 90 cents. The division superintendents have decided to effect this tonnage method of payment Feb. 15. The railroad men also demand that the blacklist be lifted from the American Railway union.

Famine Suffering in Ireland.

Dublin, Jan. 19.—At a meeting of the Dillonite members of the house of commons a resolution was adopted urging upon all Irish factions abroad a "tolerant commemoration of the events of 1798." The meeting called upon the government to alleviate the potato famine distress in the south and west of Ireland, approved the introduction of a local-government bill for Ireland, demanded relief for Irish farmers similar to that granted the English farmers, and finally requested Mr. Dillon to communicate with John Redmond with a view to united action in parliament.

Want a Law-Repealing Body.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—The state board of commerce, made up of the commercial organizations in the various cities of the state at its annual meeting Tuesday discussed the inefficiency of the present form of local government in the state. William H. Craig of Noblesville declared that the state ought to have one legislature that would put in all its time repealing laws.

Will Avoid Nebraska Loans.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 19.—A number of life insurance companies have decided to withdraw all loans from the state of Nebraska. The reasons given are that the foreclosure laws of the state make it almost impossible to secure possession of realty on which mortgages are held, and that the laws prohibit deficiency judgments in the state.

Warner's Health Is Failing.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The executive committee of the American Bimetallic union met here Monday. President A. J. Warner said he did not at present feel physically able to continue the work in hand and some time during the present session he would ask the executive committee to name some one to take his place, temporarily at least.

COULD NOT TALK OF CUBAN CASE

MOTION DECLARED OUT OF ORDER IN THE HOUSE.

Caused Some Excitement—Republicans Unite to Defeat an Effort of the Minority—Senate Finance Committee Favorably Reports Bill to Pay Bonds in Silver.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Cuba had a hearing in the house today, and for a time it looked as if parliamentary precedents would be set aside and the senate resolution recognizing the insurgents as belligerents would be attached as a rider to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. Mr. De Armond, a Missouri Democrat, precipitated the issue by offering the resolution as an amendment, but a point of order against it was sustained. Mr. De Armond appealed. He urged the Republicans who had professed friendship for the struggling Cubans to override the decision of the chair as the only chance of securing action on the proposition. Mr. Bailey, the leader of the minority, and other Democrats joined in the appeal. The excitement became intense, but the appeals of Mr. Dingley, the floor leader of the majority, as well as other Republican leaders, to their associates not to join in the programme succeeded. Mr. Colson (Rep., Ky.) warned his side that unless he was soon given an opportunity to vote his sentiments on the Cuban question he would co-operate in any revolutionary method to secure action.

When Mr. Hitt, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, called up the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, Mr. Bailey objected to any limitation on the general debate. The bill carried $1,729,008, an increase of $33,700 over the law for the current year.

As soon as the enacting clause had been read Mr. De Armond (Dem., Mo.) offered an amendment to recognize the Cuban insurgents as belligerents. Mr. Hitt raised the point of order that the amendment was new legislation and obnoxious to the rules of the house.

The chair sustained the point of order, and on motion of Mr. Hitt the committee rose. The Indian appropriation bill was presented, and at 5:05 p. m. the house adjourned.

TO PAY BONDS IN SILVER.

Teller Resolution Reported by Senate Finance Committee.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The senate committee on finance voted to report the Teller resolution declaring for the payment of national bonds in silver as well as gold. The vote stood 8 to 5. Those voting for the resolution were: Messrs. Vest, Jones (Ark.), White, Walcott, Turpie, Daniel, Democrats; Jones (Nev.), Silver Republican, and Wolcott, Republican. Those against: Morrill, Allison, Aldrich, Platt (Conn.) and Burrows.

Senator Jones of Nevada was not present, but his vote was by his request recorded in favor of the resolution. The resolution was reported to the senate by Senator Vest, who said he would call it up at an early date. Senators Platt of Connecticut and Morrill desired it to be understood that the report of the committee was not unanimous.

MORGAN TALKS OF WAR.

Declares the Annexation of Hawaii Is of the Utmost Importance.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Senator Morgan occupied the attention of the senate during the entire time of the executive session Tuesday in the presentation of his views on the subject of the annexation of the Hawaiian islands. His speech was a general presentation of the importance of the islands to the United States. He dwelt especially upon the military importance of the islands. Mr. Morgan predicted that if the United States did not take advantage of the present opportunity to acquire the islands there would be war between this country and some other power within ten weeks. It was not, he said, within the bounds of possibilities, in view of the present European competition for territory in Asia, that the Hawaiian islands should be allowed to remain independent for any length of time after the United States should finally announce a determination not to make them a part of American territory.

In the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Practically the only business accomplished in the senate Tuesday was the passing of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill. The measure as finally passed by the senate carries $1,913, 810.

To Push the Immigration Bill.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The immigration bill, which passed the senate Monday, will be pushed in the house with a view of securing early action.

Says She Bought Arsenic.

Sullivan, Ind., Jan. 19.—Four witnesses were examined Monday in the trial of Mrs. Susan Heath, charged with the murder of her husband, W. Grant Heath. Frank L. Burk, a druggist, testified that he sold Mrs. Susan Heath one ounce of commercial arsenic on the Saturday before her husband was first taken sick.

AID OF COLONIES IS NOW NEEDED

CHAMBERLAIN DEFINES GREAT BRITAIN'S POSITION.

Union With Dependencies—Policy Henceforth Will Be to Bind the Colonies Closer to the Mother Country—Will Fight to Maintain Her Commercial Position.

London, Jan. 19.—Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary for the Colonies, in a speech before the Liverpool chamber of commerce, declared that Great Britain must seek in her colonies the support which she would never receive from foreign powers.

It was the policy of the government to bind the colonies closer to the mother country, thus paving the way to a more intimate union than was now practicable. It was not contemplated to attempt to bring any pressure to bear on the colonies to attain this end, but the government was willing to meet them more than half way on any proposals they might make.

Mr. Chamberlain also said that since certain European powers had been seized with the megalomania with which the Germans were accustomed to taunt Great Britain, the German empire had increased sixfold, and the French fourfold, while Great Britain had added only a modest third to her possessions. Looking to the certainty that Great Britain would be excluded by hostile tariffs from any non-British country, the proper attitude was firmly to maintain free markets. He declared that this was not a policy of aggression, but of self-defense.

He dwelt upon the extensive trade done with China, and declared that Great Britain would do everything to maintain her commercial position in that part of the world. His language in connection with this subject was similar to that used by Mr. Balfour at Manchester and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach at Swansea, that the government was determined, even at the cost of war, that the door to China's trade should not be closed against British merchants.

Martin Is at the Helm Again.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—The newly organized democratic state committee met here Tuesday for reorganization. Parks M. Martin was re-elected chairman and S. J. Wallace secretary. The date for the state convention was not named, and the committee will defer somewhat to the wishes of the candidates for state nominations in this particular.

The state election takes place next November. A full state ticket will be nominated in May or June, except for governor and lieutenant governor. The ratio of representation at the state convention was fixed at one delegate for every 200 votes and fraction of 100 votes cast for the first Bryan elector last year.

Quit the Western Association.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 19.—Quincy announces that it will give up its franchise in the Western association the coming year and has informed its players that they are free to sign where they please. Des Moines wants to transfer its franchise to some other city and the St. Joseph franchise has gone begging with no one desirous of taking it. President Hickey will call a meeting of the association in Chicago some time early in February when the vacancies will be filled from Sioux City, Omaha, Lincoln and Topeka.

Must Serve Out His Term.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 19.—Richard Rowe, brother of Chester Rowe, the defaulting treasurer of Poweshiek county, must continue to serve out the three-year term in the penitentiary to which he was sentenced more than a year ago. The supreme court has decided that no distinction can be made between the principal and the accessory in such cases.

French Statesmen Are Alarmed.

Paris, Jan. 19.—Telegrams from most of the large towns show that the anti-Jewish crusade is assuming most menacing proportions. The government is seriously alarmed. Another strong attempt, it is said, will be made in the chamber of deputies on Saturday to overthrow the cabinet.

Maryland's Senatorial Fight.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 19.—The first ballot in the Maryland legislature for a successor to Arthur P. Gorman in the United States senate was taken Tuesday without result. It is generally conceded that there is no reason to expect an election this week.

Plans for the Encampment.

Streator, Ill., Jan. 19.—The next state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in Illinois will be held in this city Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 10, 11 and 12. The railroads will make a rate of one fare for the round trip from points in Illinois.

Says He Thinks Draper Is Insane.

Jacksonville, Ill., Jan. 19.—At the Draper trial Tuesday the Rev. A. B. Morey, who was Draper's minister, and who first received his confession, was on the stand and declared that he believed Draper insane.

Death of Sig. Nicolini.

London, Jan. 19.—Sig. Nicolini, husband of Mme. Adeline Patti Nicolini, died Tuesday at Pau, France.

PROBLEMS ARE DIFFICULT.

Cuban Troubles Seem to Be Nowhere Near a Settlement.

New York, Jan. 19.—According to a correspondent at Havana, badgering the government occupies the attention of two classes in Cuba at present. One class is the conservatives, who were predisposed to fault finding. Determined to have no share in the administration of autonomy, they are now congratulating themselves on their decision. The responsibility of implanting that system is, indeed, heavy and those who do not share in it are fortunate. The other class is a new creation. Its members call themselves radical autonomists. They are aggressive and critical. They demand that Weyler and all his works be disavowed and call for reparation of injustice in individual cases that seem to have been excluded from the general clemency. They also insist on the immediate reform of various admitted abuses. The press censorship, they declare, is not compatible with a liberal regime, and they demand its removal. In short, the radical autonomists have a program which causes them to be designated both as disguised insurgents and as embryo rebels.

The questions about the conduct of the war bring the radical autonomists to the front with their series of interrogation points. Since the insurgents will not accept autonomy these radicals want the government to ask Gomez and his associated chiefs what they will accept. Must it be complete independence? Will they not consent to keep the shadow of Spanish sovereignty in some form? Demoralization, amounting almost to anarchy, may continue for a long while without either the military authority or the civil government, as represented by the autonomist cabinet, asking foreign aid to restore peace. The growing misery of the people leads to the hope that intervention will not be definitely delayed. Starvation daily claims its hundreds of victims. No effective and permanent relief can be given the population of Cuba until the present conditions are reversed.

Bricklayers' International Union.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 19.—At the session of the Bricklayers and Masons' International union Tuesday it was decided to publish a trade journal, under the general superintendence of the General Secretary, Thomas O'Dea of Cohoes, N. Y. A resolution was adopted in favor of recognizing belligerent rights of the Cubans. A resolution was adopted calling upon the Governor of New York to enforce the eight-hour law. The trade label of the Bricklayers' National alliance was adopted.

Will Resist Federal Courts.

Crete, I. T., Jan. 19.—Judge Watfarr is out with a sensational manifesto, in which he declares he will resist the federal courts and their right to suspend the Cherokee courts until he is arrested. He further says the Cherokee delegation will help him out and defend him $20,000 worth. Starr is a Cherokee and judge of the circuit court. He is the only tribal officer in the territory to make such a declaration, all the rest having submitted gracefully.

Colorado Miners Strike.

Lafayette, Colo., Jan. 19.—The Lafayette Miners' union has called out all the miners employed in the Lafayette district. It was decided by the members of the union that they would not go to work until the old schedule of wages was restored, namely, 45 cents per ton after machines in rooms and 50 cents per ton in pillars. The United Mines here, anticipating a strike, have closed down. The Gladstone mine has also closed down. About 300 men are already out.

Revenue Bill Introduced.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 19.—The bill prepared by the sub-committee of the house revenue committee was introduced Tuesday afternoon by Chairman Selby. He asked that it be read the first time, printed and referred back to the revenue committee. It was ordered printed only, and referred back to the committee. To-day an effort will be made to read it the first time.

Minister Merry Honored.

San Jose, Costa Rica, Jan. 19.—President Iglesias has officially received United States Minister Merry. Marked evidences of respect and esteem were extended to Capt. Merry, and the new minister expressed gratification over the manner in which he had been received by the government and the people of Costa Rica.

France's Foreign Trade Increases.

Paris, Jan. 19.—The official returns just issued show the imports for 1897 to have been 4,000,126,000 francs, as compared with 3,798,579,000 francs in 1896. The exports for 1897 were 3,675,613,000 francs, compared with 3,400,920,000 francs during the previous year.

Will Prosecute Zola.

Paris, Jan. 19.—The minister for war, General Billot, has lodged with the minister of justice, M. Darlan, a formal complaint against Emile Zola and the manager of the Aurore. The complaint will be forwarded to the public prosecutor.

German Exports Decreasing.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—Exports to America from north Germany showed a falling off during the last quarter of $3,231,813. The decrease was principally in sugar.

GLADSTONE DYING AT CANNES, FRANCE

ENGLAND'S GRAND OLD MAN VERY SICK.

A Dispatch From That City Brings the Sad News to London—He Had Gone to That Place For the Benefit of His Failing Health—No Details Received.

London, Jan. 19.—A telegram from Cannes, France, says that Gladstone,

WILLIAM E. GLADSTONE, PREMIER.
England's grand old man, is dying at that city, where he had gone for his health.

RUSSIA MOVES FORWARD.

Policy of Aggression in Cuba Is Steadily Maintained.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 19.—Oriental mail advices state that Russia is keeping up her policy of aggression in Korea. The appointment of a new Russian minister to Korea was taken advantage of by the czar's government.

First the military power of Korea was assumed; next the finances of Korea brought under its superintendence. Then in addition to the coaling station she now possesses, Russia is now making efforts to obtain another on an island opposite Fusan. A peninsula in front of Wonsan will also be occupied by Russia, when she will make it either a settlement or coaling depot. It is also said that Russians are going to be engaged shortly as custom-house officials, and there is to be a great Russo-Korean bank. Further, it is stated that the Russian minister is employing Koreans on the Russian frontier in various situations and that the railway in a certain part of Korea will be built by contract in co-joint work with Russia.

Cuba Within Reach.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Public interest has been aroused, unduly, it would seem, by the movement of United States naval vessels to southern waters. This interest has been crated as much by the secrecy which has attended the movement as by the movement itself. Respecting this subject a naval officer who is in close touch with the secretary of the navy has this to say: "The United States is prepared for any emergency that may arise in Cuba. Never before in all its history has this country had such a fleet gathered together on the seas. The department does not expect an emergency to arise which will require the hostile employment of the navy at Havana or at other points of Cuba. The preparations I have mentioned have been made because the administration recognizes that prevention is better than cure."

Mother Lode Is Found.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 19.—The news brought by the treasure-laden miners who have arrived from the Klondike on the steamer Corona is important chiefly in that it is confirmatory of the discovery of the great mother lode. Welch, Coffin and Burt are authority for the statement that the original strike was made at the upper end of claim No. 30 El Dorado, while two stringers, one at No. 27 and another lower down, were subsequently located. Throughout the district the discovery is accepted as assurance of the permanency of the district as a rich gold mining field.

French Jews in a Panic.

Paris, Jan. 19.—Though the fact is suppressed as much as possible, there can be no doubt that a panic exists among the rich French Jews. The Rothschilds live in a state of hourly intimidation. Their bank in the Rue Lafitte is guarded by a special detachment of police and their private residences are similarly protected. There is a feeling that the present anti-Zola crusade, which points to a wholesale ostracism of Hebrew citizens, may lead to repudiation of debts incurred by borrowers.

Won't Reopen Sealing Matter.

London, Jan. 19.—Great Britain has again declined to reopen the sealing question. It seems that her previous refusal gave as its reason that while negotiations were pending between the United States and Canada Great Britain could not reopen the matter. To this the United States replied that no negotiations were pending and renewed the request. But the foreign office sends its regrets that the government does not see its way clear to reopen the question.

BITSON A MANIAC AND IN ASYLUM

BRUTAL MURDERER'S REASON HAS FLED.

Transferred From Waupun to Oshkosh Two Years Ago—Other Rock County Prisoners at the State Penitentiary—What a Gazette Man Saw While Visiting That Institution.

Matthew Bitson, the ignorant Bohemian who killed his wife and Mrs. Arthur Horn at the Horn farm near Shopshire in December, 1893, is now at the Northern hospital for the insane at Oshkosh.

Bitson pleaded guilty soon after his arrest, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. Soon after he entered Waupun he began to show signs of insanity, and on Dec. 28, 1896, it was decided to send him to the hospital.

A Gazette reporter found much to interest him when he visited the state penitentiary a few days ago.

Among the Rock county prisoners who are now there are George Washington and Simpson Walker, two old colored men who, in 1874, were sentenced from this county to life imprisonment for murdering a white woman near Oak Hill cemetery, on the Evansville road.

Both prisoners are "trusties" and work on the prison farm a mile away from the prison. They are both enjoying good health and seem contented.

Metcalfe a Good Prisoner.

George Metcalfe who was sentenced in 1888 from Edgerton to twenty years for killing a woman is working in the meat shop and is a hard working and well behaved prisoner. For good conduct he will get his sentence reduced eight years and nine months.

Nude Lee, the forger, Frank Mahon, the illegal voter and A. Robinson, the barber who burglarized Erridge's store, are working in the shoe shop where it is said they are hard working and obedient.

John Martin, the Johns own farm hand who was recently sentenced to twenty years, is also in the shoe shop, as is Henry Jarvis, the horse thief, and Charles Folsom, the Clinton fire bug.

In the knitting factory we found Frank Smith, the Cockville robber, and William C. Loehl, who got two years from this city for burglary.

Terrill and Howe Make Shoes Steve Terrill, who was brought here from Darlington for a second trial, is a model prisoner in the shoe factory as is also Leroy Howe, who killed his brother near Elkhorn.

Albert Bear, who broke into E. J. Thiele's house on Court street, is sewing shoes, while near him works Peter St. John, the self confessed Evansville burglar.

Edward King, the St. Paul car robber, is learning to be a first class tailor, while his partner, Frank Hunt, will come out of prison in two years a full fledged shoe maker.

"Paddy" Burke, the Indian Ford burglar, has charge of a portion of the prison yard.

A. C. Curtis, alias J. L. Hawley, the forger is working in the tailor shop. His conduct is good and he appears to accept the conditions of his imprisonment philosophically.

Henry Hammes, who was recently taken up by Sheriff Acheson, is now daily laboring in the shoe shop where he has proved himself to be a well behaved and industrious man.

The Building.

On entering the building the first room to the left is the warden's office. Here the reporter parted company with Sheriff Acheson and his two prisoners, who were then placed in charge of the prison guards. From the main building or cell house we walked across the prison yard to the large shoe factory which is operated by the M. D. Wells Company of Chicago. In this building some 300 men are employed and as we walked through the rooms the prisoners looked neither to the right or left but kept busily at their work. The electric light plant was visited. It is operated by prisoners and lights the prison buildings and yard in every nook and corner.

The knitting factory was next investigated and there found some seventy five men at work most of them engaged in making men's socks which retail on the market for about ten cents a pair. This work is also let to outside parties.

The tailor shop, which is considered second in importance to the shoe factory, is now being enlarged so that more men can be given employment. Here are found fifty men under the watchful eyes of keepers, each busily engaged with their needles. Clothing is made for the other state institutions, while overalls by the hundred are made on the "piece price" plan.

Dr. Will Wray on Duty.

From the tailor shop the reporter was shown through the large dining hall, meat shops and bakery, into the hospital. Dr. William Wray, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wray of this city, is in the hospital, where he holds a responsible position as assistant physician. Twelve men are on an average daily confined in these quarters, receiving medical attention.

The prison for the woman is separate from the main cell house. Within its walls are confined fifteen female prisoners whose daily occupation is in looking after their quarters as well as doing washing and ironing for inmates of the main prison. Many of these women are in for life and in nearly every instance they are there for poisoning their husbands. Aside from these fifteen prisoners there are now within those prison walls 636 male prisoners and 42 officers.

Neatness is most noticeable feature throughout every building on the grounds. The men's cell house is one large room, three stories high, within which are the cells four tiers high. These cells are each eight feet high, four feet wide and 7½ feet long. An iron bed that chains to the wall serves as a resting place. Plenty of bed clothes are at hand.

The Prison Routine.

"At the sound of the triangle at 6:00 in the morning you must turn out promptly, wash, dress, clean your cell thoroughly, make up your bed neatly as instructed and be ready to march out," the regulations say "At the signal to go out, you open the door, step out, close the door without slamming form in a line as directed and stand erect with pail in hand until ordered to march. Close door without slam

MATTHEW BITSON.
(Who is now a maniac.)

ming, and remain standing with right hand on door until you are counted."

To the dining room the prisoners then march to breakfast and then to the adjoining tailor, knitting or shoe factory where they labor under the watchful eye of keepers.

At noon they again march to the dining room and then return to work. Here is the bill of fare day in and day out:

Then they remain standing with their right hand on the door until they are counted. The evening meal must be eaten in the cell and if fortunate enough to have money a prisoner can buy a smoke and enjoy the same in his cell till nine o'clock when lights are out. Prisoners must then retire. In case they have a cell mate they may talk in a low tone of voice until the lights are out. At no other time are prisoners allowed to utter a word without permission from the keepers.

Prisoners Earnings.

Earnings available only to an inmate upon his discharge from prison are computed at the rate of $0.03 per day for the first year and $0.01 per day for the remainder of the time of sentence.

The prison uniforms are gray, and are in appearance like those worn by the local mail carriers.

A BRAVE BOY LEADER

BOYS were not popular as colonels in the civil war. That is not saying that the boys who became colonels were not popular with the men they led. The fact that they became leaders proves that they had the stuff in them to fill the bill. Soldiers were not particular as to the length of a colonel's beard or about anything else except the quality of leadership. Hence if a boy got into the saddle with a silver decoration on his shoulders the more honor to him. In writing thus I have in mind only the fighting colonels and fighting regiments and fighting soldiers. There is a notion abroad that for hundreds and thousands of soldiers the going to war was only a junketing affair, that they never saw a Confederate, or if they did ran away at the first view. Such colonels and regiments and soldiers are never exploited in the articles signed as below. If there were any of that stamp, it was my good fortune not to know of them at the time, and I have no data to guide me in writing of them now. It was on the front line in Virginia in daily contact with Lee's army that I learned all that I know about war, and there I received the inspiration to write of the deeds of war heroes. To my mind a regiment, when considering Federals, is a body of men which stood like a rock at Malvern Hill or Stone River or Gettysburg or Chickamauga or Franklin, or which stormed the lines at Antietam and Fredericksburg, at Mission Ridge and Kenesaw, at Spotsylvania and Petersburg. And so I do not have to think of any bad regiments or bad colonels or bad soldiers, and am heartily glad that I do not, for my memories of the war fill much the larger part of being and are stronger than all that impressed before or since.

Naturally, then, if I take a boy colonel or any other kind of a colonel for a theme, I shall go to a very hot place to find him. Therein lies the key to the remark that boy colonels were not popular. It required a marvel of a man to be the colonel of a fighting regiment—that is to say, a staying colonel, and staying qualities are implied in what I have said of my chosen types of soldiers. A fighting colonel must be an ideal master of men, not a mere driver, but a master in the sense of leadership, one to draw his men to him and make them as so many members of his own body obedient to the very impulses of his brain. Now, there were a handful only of boy colonels of that stamp. There were two besides Colonel Arthur McArthur in the very field where he won and kept his unique position, one of them in the same brigade. Colonel Silas Miller of the Thirty-sixth Illinois started as a private and at 23 was commanding the regiment. Before he was 25 he fell at the head of his regiment storming the slopes of Kenesaw. Colonel J. B. Forman of the Fifteenth Kentucky was only 21 years of age when he was killed at the head of his regiment at Stone River. He won the silver eagle by an act of gallantry at Perryville two months before.

A veteran of the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin recently gave the war story teller of The Times-Herald some points in the career of Colonel McArthur which show that a boy was handicapped in many ways in his race for a colonelcy. Said he: "When the governor made him our adjutant in 1862, he was only 17 and small for his age. His voice had not fully changed. It sounded like the crowing of a young rooster in its first efforts. We made all sorts of fun of him, and felt that we had been imposed upon by the governor. We wanted a man, not a stripling, for adjutant, an office almost as important as that of a colonel."

"You ought to have heard the boy on dress parade. His chicken voice didn't reach half way down the line when he piped out, 'To the rear; open order; march!' and when he minced to the center of the regiment, moved out in front and said, 'First sergeant to the front and center, march!' there was a broad grin on the faces of a thousand men and a scowl on that of the colonel. The first colonel had seen service and wanted a competent man for adjutant. The night after the first dress parade he said, 'I shall write to the governor to send me a wooden man sent and the command of the Twenty-fourth devolved upon the major and the boy adjutant. The regiment was in Sheridan's division, where it served all through the war. At Stone River the three brigade commanders of the division were shot down early in the fight and the regiments left to themselves. It was a terrible struggle, too well known to be repeated here. The Twenty-fourth came out with 200 men in the ranks, having lost almost as many in the fight. This was in 1862, a few months after the debut of the boy adjutant. He was not grieved any more, and after the next battle, bloody Chickamauga, the regiment looked up to him as a feature it couldn't do without and remain the same.

Then at the battle of Mission Ridge he capped it all by a deed of personal heroism and presence of mind only to be expected of a true soldier. The Twenty-fourth, under Sheridan's lead, started on the signal to go up the slope at double quick, for the emergency called for rapid action on the line. They carried the first of the enemy's defenses and after a short breathing spell orders came to go ahead. It was up hill work in the double sense, for the men had to fight for right of way and struggle under the steep and rugged hillside under fire. Finally the color bearer dropped down from physical exhaustion, while the line was strung out, wavering as to which course to take to avoid the enemy's fire and the obstructions in the path. McArthur, still adjutant, was at the front, and seizing the flag in the hands of the prostrate bearer unfurled it and rushed forward, the actual leader of the whole line.

For the deed at Mission Ridge the boy adjutant was promoted to the rank of major, a field officer's position, two grades below that of colonel. A major commands a battalion of the regiment when in action, and often when the regiment is small there are but two field officers, and the major is second in command. The Twenty-fourth had become so depleted that there were but two field officers after Mission Ridge. During the Atlanta campaign it was led by a lieutenant colonel, and at the storming of Kenesaw that office was held by young McArthur. He was not yet 19 years old, for only 1½ years had passed since he piped his feeble war notes at battalion dress parades.

McArthur's soldierly action at Kenesaw has been noticed in the story of Sergeant Dunn and that is only little of what might be said of the boy leader and his gallant command in that battle. It fought in the brigade of Colonel Opycke, side by side with the Thirty-sixth Illinois, which brave young Miller led until he was shot down with a mortal wound. And McArthur got himself in the path of the bullets, according to The Times-Herald's reminiscences by Sergeant Dunn.

"But for a bundle of letters and documents," said the sergeant, "I guess the little colonel would have given some one else a chance to command the Twenty-fourth. A bullet struck him over the heart. In the bundle of letters and papers was his commission as lieutenant colonel, received a few days before. The commission was marked by the bullet that was steering for the boy's heart. Though it did not draw blood, it made a bunch on his breast half as large as my head, and it hurt for a time worse than a bad flesh wound would have done."

But the span of charmed life was to end for the boy at last and did end at the battle of Franklin, Nov. 30, 1864. Led by Colonel McArthur the Twenty-fourth was one of the seven regiments which made history that day on Carter's hill in the famous charge of Opycke's brigade. That, too, is a well known story, but one to bear recalling. The main line of breastworks in front of Carter's hill was breached by a desperate and overwhelming charge of Cleburne's Tennesseans. Opycke's brigade lay in reserve behind the breach. The men had been in action out at the front for 36 hours and were resting and taking coffee when the Confederates burst through the line in front. At the quick command of Opycke, "First brigade, fall in, double quick, charge!" the regiments in three lines as they lay at rest hurled themselves headlong upon the exulting enemy. All told they numbered but 2,000. Forging their way to the front by dint of bayonet thrusts and blows from clubbed muskets they cleared a path to the works and retook their cannon, which they turned on the enemy. The works were held and the day was saved. Out of seven regimental leaders five were shot down, McArthur among them, and one of the first to go. The second in command, Major Philbrook, was killed. McArthur survived his wound. It was the last parade of the regiment on the battlefield with the boy in evidence, and this was what General Stanley, the corps commander, said of the performance: "I will not say absolutely that the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin saved the battle of Franklin, but I can testify from the evidence of my own eyes that it had a great deal to do with saving it. In this feat it was gallantly and well led by the boy colonel, Arthur McArthur."

It was a case of much glory on young shoulders, but there was no getting out of it, with that bleeding form and pale face as mute witnesses, that all had been earned in man's noblest work most nobly done. Colonel McArthur recovered in time to take the regiment home to Milwaukee, where he presented to the governor all that was left of Milwaukee's pride—a strapping boy leader, two tattered flags and a couple of hundred or so of battle scarred and battle grimed veterans.

ROBBING THE DEAD.

John W. Hinton of Milwaukee, will have plenty of moral support in his crusade against the robbing of American dead in foreign lands. He submits to the public, letters which reveal a state of things shameful and in a national sense disgraceful.

Mr. Hinton asserts that an American citizen is without protection in a foreign country, and if he dies there the money found on his person can be stolen by the American consul or vice consul without responsibility. No prosecution is possible as under United States laws the embezzler has committed no offense.

To steal money from a dead pauper or convict within the United States is a felony and can be punished as such,
for here there is a penal liability that can be enforced against the thief or embezzler.

To steal the funds found on a dead
American citizen by the United States consul in a foreign country is no felony because there is under the United States laws "No penal liability that can be enforced against him."

Mr. Hinton bases his argument for a change in the law on the case of his own son who died in Paris two years ago. On his person at the time of his death was a large sum of money—several thousand dollars. The Parisian police were scrupulously honest in accounting for every thing found on his person and promptly handed everything including the money to the American vice-consul in Paris and from him took a receipt, in his official capacity, for the same—the consul general being absent on government leave.
Not one cent of this money has ever been accounted for. The vice-consul served his term and returned to his home in Georgia, and when the heirs sought redress from the government not long ago, they were informed by the secretary of state:

"The department has reached the conclusion that under our law there is no penal liability that can be enforced against him."

If Mr. Hinton's statements of facts are well founded and they seem to be supported by an abundance of detail, it would be hard to find another civilized government on the globe that does not give its citizens in foreign lands better protection and that does not hold its foreign representatives more closely to account.

Mr. Hinton will be upheld by all in his demand for reform along this line.

Judging by the Milwaukee Journal,
the available republican candidates for mayor and the most beautiful girls in Milwaukee, are equally abundant.
The Journal asks a good deal when it looks to ex-Governor Peck to equal these combined lists in pulchritude and potentiality.

Beloit has the only co-operative savings bank in the state and the officers report the gratifying fact that the deposits have reached $254,000.
The increase of deposits in 1897 was $63,000 as against $300 for 1896.

MISS IRWIN TAKEN
TO THE ASYLUMYOUNG WOMAN IS DECLARED INSANE.

Under Sheriff Crockery Took Her In Charge at the High School This Morning, and They Left For Madison at Noon—She Has Realized
Her Condition.

Before the eyes of a hundred pupils in the large auditorium of the new High School building this morning,
Miss Katherine Irwin unwillingly gave up her school studies in compliance with the laws of the State of Wisconsin. According to the reports of Drs. J. B. Whiting and J. F. Pen-ber and the final ruling of Judge J.
W. Sate Miss Irwin was declared insane. At 10:50 o'clock this morning Under-Sheriff Wallace Cochran took the unfortunate girl to the hospital at Mendota where she will receive the best of treatment.

For several weeks past Miss Irwin has realized her condition and been discussing her condition with her friends, she has herself visited physicians in the hopes of finding relief.
Her great hobby seemed to be a member of the High school class.

She declared that she would graduate this coming June. For several weeks past she has not missed a day at school, each time occupying a prominent seat in the main study room where she conducted herself in an orderly way, only at certain times making trouble. This morning at 8:45 o'clock Under Sheriff Wallace
Cochran and Turnkey Samuel Brown went to the High school where they held a short consultation with Prof. D. D. Mayne, who then quietly walked into the room and notified her that a friend was in waiting without who wished to see her. Miss Irwin did not answer, however, and Under Sheriff Cochran was obliged to take her in hand and escort her to a sleigh in waiting.

At the depot Miss Irwin stated that if she did not like the hospital at Mendota she would return soon. Her case is said not to be one of a serious nature and it is the wish of her friends that her recovery may be a speedy one.

JOHN W. HAMILTON AGAIN ON EARTH

GREAT AND GOOD MAN IS BUSY.

A Heartless Manufacturer Who Sold "Windy" His Plant Now Doubts the Value of "Windy's" Note and Gets an Injunction—Champion Co. Has Grown Wonderfully.

Do you know John W. Hamilton? If so, what did he do in Janesville?

A local business man nearly fell off his chair when he opened a letter from a resident of Ohio, asking these questions this morning. The man wrote that he had sold his manufacturing plant to John W. Hamilton, treasurer of the Champion Novelty Co., receiving in payment $8,000 in the stock of the Champion Novelty Co., and Hamilton's note for $2,000—doesn't that sound familiar?

Col. Hamilton is now making Dayton, Ohio, his headquarters, and at that city the Champion Novelty Co.'s immense plant is located. The man who parted with his factory got suspicious after the deal was made, and began to make an investigation.

Then he began to get "ancient history" until he couldn't rest. He found that Hamilton was the head and center of the scheme and that he had worked in Middletown, Elizabethtown, and Cumberland, Pa.

Got An Injunction.

The people of Middletown seemed to know Hamilton quite well, and told the seeker for information that he could undoubtedly learn something by writing the Janesville business man. Hence his letter, which was received today.

An injunction to prevent the carrying out of the sale has been secured, but Col. Hamilton has not yet replied thereto. That is the way the case now stands. The writer of the letter says that the Champion Novelty Co.—of sainted memory—had a paid up stock of $50,000 and $5,000 surplus. Their assets, it was stated, consisted of three—count 'em—chair factories in Pennsylvania; one foundry; and three—count 'em—other plants in Dayton. The writer says, however, that he has since learned that the company owns nothing in Dayton, and that the three—count 'em—chair factories have been seized by creditors.

That any one should suspect that Mr. Hamilton's note was not good and that he didn't own all the factories in Pennsylvania and Ohio, is quite shocking. Janesville people have a faint remembrance of the Champion Shelf Co., the Janesville Improvement Co., the Victor Manufacturing Co., the Lunar Medicine Co., The Family Friend Publishing Co., and other gigantic concerns that Hamilton removed to this city from Springfield, Ohio.

Some Things Remembered.

They also remember the "financial shyness" that followed the tangle of interests that Hamilton so manipulated that Janesville people parted with some $60,000 the whereabouts of which was never really known.

Do you know John W. Hamilton? If so, what did he do in Janesville? Any man, woman or child in this city can answer that question, but it would take a day's time, a quart of ink and five hundred sheets of paper to write the story of his business deals. Suffice it to say that if John W. Hamilton would come back to Janesville, the people would fall upon his neck and weep. They would say things to him that would jar him greatly, and even go so far as to want to furnish him board free of cost. Oh, yes, Janesville people know John W. Hamilton and what he did, but as to just how he did it, well that's another story.

It is to be hoped that the latest sufferer from his scheming can get even with him. If he does the performance will be heartily applauded by the stockholders in the Hamilton companies—that were—in Janesville, Wis.

MUCH CORN IS COMING IN

Farmers Say This Is the Best Grain Market in State.

Farmers are hauling corn into this city at a lively rate. During the past few days corn has gone from $6 a ton to $6.50 which is said to have been brought about by sharp local competition on the part of buyers. "I now consider Janesville the best grain market in Southern Wisconsin," remarked a well known town of Janesville farmer, "and I believe that it is all due to the activity displayed by the local buyers who all seem anxious to buy every load that comes to town."

SCHOOL HOUSE CASE BEFORE THE COURT

JUDGE BENNETT HEARS ABOUT THE SITE.

One Side Claims It Is a Good Location, While Other Parties Insist That It Is in a Remote Part of the City—Prominent Citizens Interested in Matter.

That $7,000 Beloit school house was under discussion in the circuit court today, when the case of John Thompson et al vs. Union School district No. 2 et al, was called.

On one side of Judge Bennett sat John Thompson, Walter M. Britton, E. J. Adams and Mr. Cunningham, while on the other side sat several members of the school board as well as several interested citizens from the Line City.

The question at law deals with the site on which it is proposed to erect the new buildings. The plaintiffs are endeavoring to enjoin the school board from building a schoolhouse in the section of the town selected, claiming that the resolution ordering the loan of $7,000 to erect the building was passed at a meeting illegally held.

At 9 o'clock the case was opened on the part of the plaintiffs by Attorney A. A. Jackson. The first witness called was L. H. Parker who was clerk of the school district for years. He showed records of past meetings of the board since 1871.

Register of Deeds O. D. Rowe was the next witness called, he testifying to the recording of the school site.

E. F. Hansen and W. M. Britton were the next witnesses called their testimony being in reference to records.

Photographs Ruled Out

Two dozen photographs of large size were then introduced to show that the purchased site was in a remote section of the town. One picture would tend to show the site as bordering on a tobacco field, while other pictures that favored the defendants showed the site as being near several handsome dwellings. His Honor, after looking at the pictures ruled out this part of the testimony, and held that as no fraud was alleged in the complaint, he could not review the discretion of the board in buying the site.

"The amount of this whole wrangle is just this," said a member of the district school board this morning. "We purchased what we thought was a good site. It is a fine piece of land, near the edge of the city. Messrs. Thompson, Adams, Cunningham and Parker declared that the site is a bad one on account of its being in an alleged remote portion of the city. In order to carry their point they got an injunction hindering the building of the school and are now fighting the case on the grounds that the meeting was not held according to the state laws." William Reger of this city, and John C. Rood of Beloit, are representing the defendants. The case promises to be a lively one before the curtain is rung down.

CHASED THE WOLF MANY LONG MILES

ORGANIZED HUNT HELD NEAR CLINTON.

It Lasted Three Days and Resulted in the Death of a "Varmint" That Had Led the Pursuers a Chase Over Walworth and Rock Counties.

A wolf hunt "as was a wolf hunt" ended near Clinton today, and the "varmint" was slain after pursuers had tramped over a good many miles of territory. It is thought that several more of the animals can be found in that vicinity, as tracks on the snow were plentiful.

Wolves have been bothering the farmers in that section of the county for some time past, and had committed many depredations. Only night before last Nate Vanderlyn had two hogs killed, and he had also lost several sheep. Accordingly it was decided to have an organized hunt for the beast. Three days ago the party started out. John Inman finally got a shot at the animal and broke its leg. Since then the beast has been going on three feet. Yesterday Nate Vanderlyn, Herman Rogers and Lew Turtle took the warpath. They started from near the Winnegar bridge on foot. Had Long Jaunt.

The men were on foot. They soon found the trail of the wolf and chased him to Darien, without getting a chance to kill him. From Darien the beast led them a cross country race to within sight of Sharon. Then he dodged them again and headed back for Turtle Creek, trace of him being lost near Charles Inman's place.

This morning the hunt was resumed, Shirley Inman, John Inman and John Wall started the beast from his hiding place near the Winnegar home. They chased him south a distance of four miles. Other parties were also out, but at the end of the four mile run, J. O. Reilly and Herman Wendorf took up the trail. He led them a chase of five miles, but as they came over the brow of a hill they saw Mr. Wolf lying down in the bushes. They then fired, killing the beast where he lay.

Carcass on Exhibition.

The fatal shot was fired about 10 o'clock. The men were then within two miles of Clinton, so they picked up the carcass and carried it to that place. The animal was placed on exhibition at the Commercial House, where it will lie in state until the state and county bounty is claimed.

Other hunting parties will doubtless keep up the work. It is thought that several wolves yet survive. When Reilly got to the dead wolf this morning he found many tracks. It is thought that at least four have been making the vicinity of the Winnegar farm their headquarters, and that the other three are still at large.

The annual meeting of the local union that will be held at the Baptist church, Friday evening, is a meeting of all members of the Christian Endeavor and Epworth League societies of the city and not a meeting of officers only.

AND John W. is not yet dead after all.

A HOT FIGHT.

BY CHARLES B. LEWIS.

From the year 1858 to that of 1867 there were no less than seven British, French, German and American cruisers constantly cruising in the waters of the China and Java seas after pirates. During this time over 100 piratical craft were captured, a dozen or 15 strong-holds broken up and at least 2,000 "black flags" were killed offhand or sent ashore to be hung. The cruisers thought they had finished their work, but in 1869 several traders which had been fitted out at Bantam, Batavia and Singapore were overhauled by pirates and their crews butchered. When we arrived at Singapore in 1870 in the British gun brig Vixen, a nest of pirates had been located on one of the islands off the west coast of Java, and we had orders to proceed to the spot and clean them out. We overhauled our armament, took in a lot of ammunition and strengthened our crew by 14 men before sailing. These men were drafted out of a crew belonging to a man-of-war which had been wrecked on the Malay coast, and all were old hands. The captain got his bearings from some source unknown to us, and when we left Singapore the brig was headed to the east. We jogged along down the coast of Sumatra for a week without any unusual incident, and though we spoke a score of craft none of them had any information about the pirate. The crew had begun to ridicule the idea when something occurred to open our eyes very wide.

One morning, about an hour after daylight, we came up with a Dutch trader, which was taking care of herself. All her sails had been cut away, ropes were flying in every direction, and she was so low in the water that we wondered why she didn't go down. When a boat pulled off to her, it was to find the captain mortally wounded and his wife and two sailors, stiff and dead and horribly mutilated, on the deck beside him. We got him off, but had no time to give the bodies burial before the little craft went down. The captain was a man about 40 years of age, and, though hardly alive when we found him, he rallied enough to tell his story. The trader had been trafficking along the Java coast and had finally completed his cargo and headed for Singapore. Just at sunset on the previous evening he had been overhauled by a native craft, carrying about 40 men. He was then about ten miles off the coast and about five miles south of an island known as Queen's Bower. He had no suspicion whatever of the natives, and the first thing he knew they boarded his craft and began to cut and slash. When they had finished the crew, they began to plunder and strip the vessel and were with her until midnight. Before leaving they bored her full of holes, and we had reached her just in time to rescue the captain. The first craft was joined by two others later on, and the three carried at least 100 desperate fellows. The captain heard and understood enough to satisfy him that they were an organized gang of pirates and that they were also well equipped for their bloody business.

The island mentioned was not over 20 miles away, and as the Java sea was and is a great highway it did not seem possible that men would take such a risk as those pirates had. The trader said that no less than three friendly sails were in sight when he was attacked, but all too far away to signal, even if he had been warned in time to do something. Owing to the shoals surrounding the island our craft could not approach near enough to use her guns and shell the fellows out, and we were not strong enough to land from our boats and deal with them. The sight of an armed vessel nosing around would put the pirates on their guard, and so it was resolved to play them a Yankee trick. We ran into a bay on the coast and set to work.

You are probably aware of the fact that an English man-of-war, no matter how large or how small, is a pattern of neatness and regulation, and the cut of her sails will alone establish her identity while her hull is yet below the water line. We had therefore to undo and overhaul a great deal. We put everything in seeming confusion aloft, disguised her hull as much as possible, and when we left the bay the Shark had the look of a merchantman which had been through a typhoon and was too short handed to make repairs. The Dutch captain died on the day after we found him, and his last words were a prayer that we might fall in with and punish the pirates.

It was just at daylight that we appeared off the north coast of the island and anchored on a bank about three miles from the beach. Men were sent aloft as if engaged in repairs, a boat was got down as if to work on the hull, and the bulk of the crew remained in hiding below. No doubt the fellows ashore had a lookout in some trees, and provided with a good glass he could see everything going on aboard. It was hardly sunrise when a small native craft with four men in her, came out to make an investigation. Our captain hailed them, and they replied with gestures to signify that they would return to the shore for help. They evidently took us for what we pretended to be, and we were piped to breakfast feeling that our ruse would succeed.

About 8 o'clock, with the wind breezing up lively, three native sail craft put out for us. A man aloft with a glass reported that each craft was crowded with natives, and it was now our plan to weigh anchor and make a little sail and pretend to be standing away from them as if alarmed. The object was to draw them as far away from shore as possible, and we had added a mile or more to the distance when the foremost boat came within hail. She hadn't a gun of any sort in sight, but she had 48 desperate looking villains in plain view and every one of them had a cutlass and pistol. While her captain was hailing us in a language no one could understand she was slowly edging along down our starboard quarter. At the same time a second craft was drawing ahead on the port side, and the third kept in our wake.

Only seven or eight men were in sight on our decks, and the natives seemed to have no suspicion of a trick. The breeze was a little bit too strong for their maneuvering at first, but after we were about six miles off shore the two suddenly closed in to board us. Our captain had been closely watching them and waiting for this move, and of a sudden the drum beat to quarters and our decks were alive with men.

I was captain of No. 3 gun crew and had the honor of firing the first shot. It was a solid ball, and it struck the craft on her port bow and went clean through her and dropped into the sea beyond. This opened the fight. The natives instantly realized that they had caught a tartar, and they saw, too, that their only means of escape lay in capturing the ship. Therefore, instead of running away, as we had looked for, each craft bore down on us to board. They were handled as easily as an Indian maneuvers a canoe, and it wasn't five minutes after the first gun was fired ere they were on our quarters like wolves seeking to hamstring a deer. I fired another solid shot and then loaded with grape, and this last charge was fired right into a mass of natives waiting to clamber up the side. The gun next to me fired a solid shot, which tore through her bottom, and two minutes later she foundered right alongside of us. The second craft got near enough to grapple, but the irons were thrown off and two guns played solid shot into her hull until she went down stern foremost, leaving 30 men struggling in the waves.

The third craft had forged ahead, sailing five feet to our one, and would have boarded us at the bows but for the sudden destruction of the others. Their fate frightened her off, but she had scarcely laid her head for the island than it was brought around, as if her crew had made some desperate resolve. Now occurred a curious thing. She had about 30 men on board, and she came down on us with every one of them shouting and screaming and tried to lay us aboard. We could have sunk her with one gun even, or we could have picked off the whole crew with our muskets before they had crossed the rail. Word was passed to give her a full broadside at command, and when the smoke cleared away she was not to be seen. There were over 20 of the pirates hanging to the wreckage around us, however, and a boat was lowered to pick them up. You can judge of their desperation when I tell you that every one of them fought like a tiger against being rescued and that we got only five out of the lot. The others we had to kill as they floated about, with the sharks snapping at them. Two of the five leaped out of the boat after being pulled in and were seen no more, and the others gave us so much trouble that the captain swung them up to the yard arm.

Thus not one single man of the 100 or more who came out to attack us escaped with his life. I was in one of the boats afterward sent ashore to see what sort of a lair the pirates had made for themselves. The only human beings ashore were an old native woman, a one armed Japanese and a white boy about 14 years of age. The boy was off an English trader captured a year before and had been held prisoner ever since. He said there were 107 men in the gang, and we found enough plunder on the island to load our ship.

They had captured about a dozen different vessels, large and small, and in every case had plundered and sunk them. They did not always kill all the crew. Soon after the boy was captured they brought in an American sailor off a spice trader. The lad knew him only by the name of William, but remembered that his home was in Boston. It turned out that they had spared his life to make use of him as a blacksmith, but when they found he had no knowledge of that work he was put to death with great cruelty. By order of the chief he was hung in chains on a tree about a quarter of a mile from the village and was five or six days in dying. The boy went with us and showed us his bones, still hanging.

The one armed man and the old woman, assisted by the boy, were the cooks for the gang. They at first seemed very much alarmed and protested their innocence of any complicity in the crimes of the pirates, but when they came to understand that all the villains had met their fate and that we had come ashore to clear the island of its last bale of plunder they suddenly ran into a rude storehouse, blocked up the doorway with boxes and opened fire on us with pistols. We had two men wounded before we could dislodge them, and they were then hanged to the same limb and their bodies left to the birds. What plunder we could not bring off we burned on the island, and before leaving we set the forest on fire in a dozen places, and the flames did not die out until the whole length and breadth had been swept clean of vegetation.

And bring the fragrant shower,
And I would talk in whispers
That you could understand.
And the perfume of your petals
I'd spread all o'er the land
Were I the wind, my darling,
And you a blushing flower.

SHE.
Were you the wind, so wanton,
And I a blushing flower,
You say you'd sigh forever
And play around my bower,
And that you'd come and kiss me,
And bring the fragrant shower,
And that you'd talk in whispers
That I could understand.
And the perfumes of my petals
You'd spread o'er all the land—
Let's play that you're the wind, and
That I'm the blushing flower!

Game Plentiful in Austria. Austria is the finest sporting country in Europe. The number of preserves, not counting those in Hungary, is stated at 15,864, and on these there were shot, in 1887, 32 bears, 113 wolves, 24 lynxes, 9,490 stags, 60,252 roebucks, 7,709 chamois, 2,998 wild boars, 26,411 foxes, 9,729 polecats, 1,055 otters, 2,672 badgers, 333 marmots and no fewer than 1,439,134 hares. The totals for feathered game are 4,493 grouse, 1,300 wild geese, 102,748 quails, 12,652 woodcock, 7,514 snipe and 28,914 wild ducks. The birds of prey shot were 561 eagles, 38,610 owls, 1,365 horned owls, and 106,353 hawks, kestrels, kites and vultures.

The Costa Rican Counterfeiters. For many months the Costa Rican counterfeiters have been issuing bogus notes of the government of the island until the amount, it is said, has reached $1,000,000. Inspectors of the secret service bureau were chiefly instrumental in bringing the malefactors to justice. The efficiency of the secret service is undoubted, but it is by no means a secret, but a patent fact that the service that Hostetter's Stomach Bitter does the weak, nervous and dyspepsia is of genuine value. There have been from time to time counterfeiters of it, as of the genuine Costa Rican notes, but the miniature note of hand on the label and the vignette of St. George and the Dragon coupled with the exquisitely finished typographical work, are not successfully imitable. Any one who has used the Bitter knows its admirable qualities and the features of the bottles. This agreeable tonic absolutely prevents and remedies malaria, liver complaint, kidney trouble and dyspepsia.

"WHERE IS HELL?" HE ASKS WISCONSIN NEWS IN BRIEF.

Rev. Mr. Requa Preaches Upon the Disagreeable Subject at Oshkosh

"Hell, Where is it? What is it? and How to Get There." This subject was advertised for the Sunday evening discourse at the Algoma street M. E. church, Oshkosh. Notwithstanding the disagreeable nature of the subject the church was well filled.

Rev. Mr. Requa is minister to this church, which is regarded as one of the most prosperous in the city. The congregation is made up of some of the wealthiest families in Oshkosh. As a rule the pastors of such churches show a disposition to refrain from preaching on old fashioned hell and devil. However, Mr. Requa said in the course of his remarks that while preparing his sermon he had given himself over to profound meditation on this subject and he said he had come to the conclusion that he would be preaching a lie if a part of the truth were withheld. If not a lie it had all the elements of deceit.

For him to tell his people the naked truth and keep nothing back, he believed was befriending them just as much as the surgeon who knows full well the desperate nature of a disease in hand and resorts to heroic treatment to save his patient. It is harsh, but nevertheless it is done only in kindness.

Mr. Requa preached the old fashioned doctrine of hell and everlasting punishment. He could not locate the infernal place nor prove it was in existence but he defied all men to disprove it. Scientific facts which are comparatively clear to the highly educated mind, are totally unthinkable to the child, but nevertheless facts were used to illustrate his point.

"The word 'hell,' he said, 'appears in the bible fifty-six times. His tender love and mercy' appears only twenty-eight times, while 'His wrath and indignation' is to be found sixty-one times. The old fashioned doctrine of hell may be unpopular," Mr. Requa said, "but it is the thing that is needed. 'Hell is the logical necessity of sin,' declared the speaker, 'for who can thrust his hand in the fire and not be burned? Then how can man thrust his soul into sin and not be burned?'"

"Somewhere in the universe, there is a hell. It cannot be located or mapped out any more than remorse and grief and sorrow and stinging of the soul can be mapped or depicted." Next Sunday evening Mr. Requa will take for his subject, the more pleasing theme, "Heaven."

THE Racine board of health has taken extra precautions to prevent the spread of small pox. The residence where Miss Lawrence stays is carefully guarded, the schoolroom where she attended has been fumigated and her books were burned.

PHILIP STEFFINS, living near Rome, has discovered a large piece of copper on his place, and an expert says that there is a large vein of the ore in the locality. Other experts will soon be on the ground to make an investigation.

At Hudson the assignee of the defunct Hudson Saving bank sold $148,000 of the assets of the bank for $82.50. Another and final dividend of 7 per cent, will soon be paid to creditors, making a total of 57 per cent, which they have received since the failure in 1893.

In the circuit court at Manitowish the case of Michael O'Brien, charged with murdering James Fielding, was taken up. O'Brien's lawyers have put in the plea of insanity. It is thought that at least one hundred witnesses will be examined and that a great amount of expert testimony will be introduced.

The committee appointed by the Racine Business Men's association to have charge of Racine's exhibit at the Trans-Mississippi exposition at Omaha, held a meeting. It was decided to ask for 8,000 square feet of space, one-half of which is to be occupied by the exhibit of the Case Threshing Machine company.

The commission having charge of the erection of the Historical Library building at Madison have decided to lay the cornerstone some time during the next two weeks, the exact date not having been decided on. It was intended that the cornerstone should be laid in the spring but the work has advanced much faster than has been expected.

An ordinance has been introduced into the common council of Sheboygan to abolish the board of public works and establish in its place a board provided for in the general charter. There has been considerable ill feeling expressed against that board since a hose deal was made in which 1,000 feet of hose was purchased and because the Chicago and Northwestern road was allowed to build a piece of sidewalk without a franchise.

The common council of Sheboygan at a meeting last evening passed resolutions pledging the voting of bonds for the proposed railroad to connect the city with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road when the money is needed. The council also accepted resolutions for the preparation of estimates for the dredging of more than a mile of the river, and a memorial was addressed by congress asking for an appropriation for this purpose.

The state board of health met at Madison yesterday for the regular annual meeting. The year 1897 has been marked in the state by the decrease in the number of deaths from contagious diseases. In the future all rats coming to the paper mills in the state will be required to be carefully disinfected as a number of cases of smallpox at DePere have been traced to this source. Resolutions were adopted opposing the anti-vivisection law now pending before congress.

HENRY C. PIERCE, of St. Louis, has obtained a temporary injunction restraining Senator Vilas and Col. John D. Knight, of Ashland, from forcing a contract for logging purposes. Mr. Pierce claims that he owns a tract of land lying on both sides and including the bed of the river, and that he has made improvements valued at $25,000 that will be destroyed if the river is used for driving. The improvements Mr. Pierce has made consists of fish baiteries and club houses on an island. The case will be heard before the United States court at Madison, Feb. 7.

DR. SUTHERLAND IS CHOSEN

Put On Important Committee of State Board of Health.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 18.—The officers of the State Board of Health, which finished its annual meeting and adjourned today, were re-elected. They are: President Solon Marks, and Secretary, U. O. B. Wingate, both of Milwaukee. Secretary Wingate was not formerly re-elected as he holds his office until removed, but the failure of the board to remove him is an endorsement of his work as secretary, and is said to be generally equivalent to a reelection.

Doctors C. H. Marquardt of La Crosse, G. W. Harrison of Ashland, and J. H. McNeal of Fond du Lac were appointed a Committee on Finance, and Doctors F. H. Bodenius of Madison, J. H. McNeal of Fond du Lac, and Q. O. Sutherland of Janesville as a Committee on Legislation.

Drs. Sutherland and Marquardt and Secretary Wingate were made a committee on printing, which is considered an important committee on account of the amount of work to be done in connection with the printing of the reports.

After some discussion on the report recently made on tuberculosis among cattle by Prof. H. L. Russell of the university, the outline of which was recently printed it was decided to publish it with the forthcoming report of the board. As State Chemist Mitchell was not ready with his report on the samples of drugs recently sent to him for analysis under the Drug Label law passed by the legislature last winter, the consideration of that law and the formation of plans for its enforcement were laid over.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effectual Cure for It

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing; headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanston the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Distasie, Aspetic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. Y. Bocher, of 2710 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing a catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Send for little book, mailed free, on stomach troubles, by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mass. The tablets can be found at all drug stores.

Cloak Business. . .

Is good--better than usual in this month, but whether it is because there's more money in circulation or that we are giving better values than ever before, we cannot tell. Certain it is that business in the cloak department reminds us of the busy times during early season. Of course there are many reasons why women are buying cloaks at this time, the most important being that the new and stylish coats which have been priced at $9 to $15 can be bought today a $5.00, and coats which have been up to $7.50 are now down to $2.87. This applies to misses' jackets as well as to ladies' garments, whether jackets or capes.

It is well to have in mind that the line of new, stylish garments which we show at this time is larger and more complete than the average store shows at the beginning of a season. For large women we have plenty of good coats in 40, 42, 44 and 46 bust measure at both the above prices--$2.87 and $5.00.

Gaiter Leggings--

For ladies, misses and children in six sizes, made of black jersey cloth, with buttons and straps. Prices 75c to $1.35 according to size. No gaiter, on the market to equal them for warmth.
